Dear Ladies and Gentlemen,

GDAŃSK & REGION

where business meets

I am pleased to present to you a new catalogue of conference facilities in our region. I hope it will prove helpful to everyone who is considering choosing our Region as a meeting venue.

The development of business tourism brings enormous economic and social benefits to the whole region. What are they? Hard currency inflows, new investments, development of community infrastructure, new hotels and conference facilities – all these contribute to an increase in the number of workplaces.

Moreover, the development of business tourism has a huge promotional value for the whole region since conference and congress participants belong to the intellectual and science elite constituting a great opinion-forming body both on the regional and on the national level. The scientific dimension should also be remembered – outstanding academics participating in congresses are an exquisite source of first-hand information about the latest developments in science. Therefore, business tourism stimulates the development of Gdańsk and the whole Pomeranian Region.

The city of Gdańsk and the surrounding region have enormous potential and assets which create the opportunity for it to become a renowned conference and congress centre, while at the same time enhancing the development of business tourism in the whole Pomeranian Region. The future is in our hands.

GDAŃSK & REGION

OVER A 1000 YEARS' HISTORY

Gdańsk is a thousand-year-old Hanseatic city with exceptionally intense history full of unexpected twists and turns, but also with periods of amazing economic and cultural development. Gdańsk is rich in listed buildings and magical places reminiscent of the old times and brimming with a multicultural and multinational atmosphere.

LOCATION

Gdańsk is located at the crossroads of the Baltic Sea routes with the Trans-European Transport Corridor No. 6. It is a major transportation hub of international importance with the deepest and one of the largest ports of the Baltic Sea. An attractive geographical location and the chance to have an active holiday on the clean Baltic beaches attract many Polish and foreign tourists.

CULTURE & ART

Gdańsk is one of the candidate cities for the highly prized title of the European Capital of Culture 2016. The idea of freedom is a unifying factor between the citizens of the city and its artistic circles, thus invariably favouring the incorporation of art into city space. Gdańsk is a living centre of cultural events, the most important of which include: 'All About Freedom' Festival, International Festival of Organ Music, Shakespeare Festival, International Street & Open-Air Theatres Festival 'Feta', Baltic Sail – Tall Ships Races as well as St. Dominic's Fair – a three-week festival which blends trade with a rich cultural and sports programme.

THE CITY OF FREEDOM AND SOLIDARITY

Throughout the post-war period Gdańsk has invariably remained the icon of the Polish pursuit of freedom. It is not without reason that Gdańsk is called the city of freedom. When the strike broke out in the Gdańsk Shipyard in August 1980 no one supposed that it would be the first stone in a landslide that would lead to the undermining of the post-war division of the world, the overthrow of the Communist system and the creation of the new order in Europe. This is a distinct face of Gdańsk, a city always associated with trade unions, the 'Solidarity' movement and a Nobel Peace Prize laureate and the first President of the III Republic of Poland – Lech Wałęsa.

THE CENTRE OF BUSINESS AND INVESTMENT

Both the city and the region have been experiencing dynamic economic development since the 1990s. In the Pomeranian voivodeship there are over 225,000 companies, 60,000 of which are located in Gdańsk. Owing to the high level of education in the area Gdańsk has been at the forefront of investment attractiveness among the major Polish cities and is number one in market quality rankings. Many companies representing various sectors have their headquarters here from the heavy industry to high-tech.

ACTIVE & EXTREME

The unique location of Gdańsk and the Region make it an ideal place for active leisure. The waters of Gdańsk Bay and the open sea attract sailors, windsurfers, kitesurfers, kayakers and divers. Moreover, the Pomeranian Voivodeship has tens of bicycle and walking trails leading along the coast, river banks and through parks.

GDAŃSK & REGION

OVER A 1000 YEARS' HISTORY

The massive gothic brick Church of Our Lady (Bazylika Mariacka) looming over the city, Long Market (Długi Targ) – one of the most beautiful market places in Europe, surrounded by a number of richly decorated facades of renaissance city houses with the statue of Neptune occupying the centre, the old Medieval Crane (Żuraw) dreaming on the Mottawa bank – these are Gdańsk's landmarks.

The millennium city by the Baltic Sea, the hometown of Hevelius, Fahrenheit, Schopenhauer, Grass and Wałęsa, is one of the most attractive tourist destinations. Gdańsk surprises with the multitude of listed examples of city, church, military and port architecture, with the millennia of fascinating culture and tumultuous history as well as with the unique atmosphere of the place where the past and the modern unite in perfect harmony to create an inimitable cityscape.

Gdańsk's amazing culture and art are the heritage passed down to us by the generations of people inhabiting this area for over a thousand years. The difficult history did not always allow us to preserve original works of art. The apparently old edifices standing here today were mostly reconstructed in the 20th century from the war damage. Yet they do have their value – they give us a sense of the atmosphere of the old Gdańsk.

The seaside location of the city has always fostered affluence and consequently the development of art. The interest in art on the part of the citizens and tourists alike is so common that Gdańsk's application for the European Capital of Culture 2016 comes as no surprise. The citizens are so open to new developments that every new trend finds its followers in Gdańsk. The young computer generation might call Gdańsk 'europe.zip' since it reflects everything that Europe has to offer, only sometimes in a shortened version.

Free from prejudice, curious about people and the world, and always acting according to the motto inscribed in the coat of arms 'no impertinence, no timidity'. This is the spirit of the spontaneous people living in this beautiful city. Big events organisers emphasise that what attracts them to Gdańsk is that it is a proud city filled with the ideas of FREEDOM. Free from fear of competition, the citizens of Gdańsk always say that they are from the Tri-City. The cultural achievements and artistic successes are the creation of the people living in the three friendly cities (Gdańsk, Sopot and Gdynia), whose borders have long been blurred. We are not in Gdańsk, we are in the metropolis to which Sopot brings the youthful enthusiasm of its students while Gdynia aims at success in business and attracts sailors from the whole country. However, culture and art should not just be discussed – please come and see the world-famous landmarks of the Tri-City.

THE CITY OF FREEDOM AND SOLIDARITY

Gdańsk is the cradle of Solidarity and the centre of events which were decisive in our nation's history and changed the course of world events by contributing to the collapse of communism.

Gdańsk has always been associated with freedom in the broadest sense of the term. It is a unique seaside city whose long and multinational cultural tradition has turned it into a safe haven for freethinkers. Gdańsk is famous for tolerance and its citizens are renowned for the love of freedom.

The word 'Solidarity' and the legendary name of Lech Wałęsa have become the symbols of this great city. Gdańsk is not only the place of groundbreaking events, but also of peaceful transformations. Every visitor to the city has a chance to experience the 'spirit of freedom'. Solidarity is still an inspiration to everyone fighting for freedom, dignity and justice all over the world.

THE CENTRE OF BUSINESS AND INVESTMENT

Gdańsk is famous not only for its culture and tourism industry. It is also a business and academic centre characterised by a conducive climate created by the local government, higher schools and institutions supporting business. It is a European city inhabited by socially active, enterprising and educated people.

Moreover, it is one of the most prosperous and fast developing Polish cities in which every day brings improvements in the transport, social, educational and cultural infrastructure.

Thanks to the ability to take advantage of the strategic location and the traditional openness to entrepreneurship, Gdańsk and the region are ranked as one of the top investment-friendly places.

Innovative solutions and specialist institutions allow the city to offer help to foreign investors entering the Polish market and to maximise the exploitation of the region's possibilities. Numerous companies are present in our city and the region: GE Money Bank, Arla Foods, Reuters, IBM, Thompson, Zensar.

Owing to a high level of education, Gdańsk also ranks first in the area of labour market quality.

Gdańsk is one of the major Polish academic centres with almost 100,000 students and nearly 20,000 graduates a year, educated according to European standards and possessing highly demanded professional skills and qualifications.

Gdańsk is a modern and dynamic city of great investment, employment and development opportunities.

GDAŃSK & REGION

ACTIVE & EXTREME

A variety of landscapes places Gdańsk and the region among the most attractive locations on the map of Poland. Beautiful sandy beaches on the one hand, and forested moraine hills on the other. Such surroundings create ample opportunities to prepare an extensive offer for both culture and sport lovers. The waters of Gdańsk Bay create excellent conditions for water sports thus attracting to our region increasing numbers of windsurfers and kitesurfers from all over the world. Moreover, the Bay of Puck and the open sea attract sailors who perceive Pomeranian voivodeship as the Polish sailing centre.

Active leisure is guaranteed also for the lovers of kayaking, diving, snorkelling and swimming in the sea. Apart from the sea, water sports can also be practiced on the canals of the Mottawa and the Martwa Wisła (the Dead Vistula) as well as on the numerous lakes of the Kashubian Lake District.

Moreover, Pomeranian Voivodeship is a biker's paradise. A rich network of bicycle trails will satisfy even the most demanding mountain biker, while at the same time creating plenty of opportunities for family recreation.

Another dream place for active tourism is Sobieszewska Island, which is only 15 kilometres away from Gdańsk. While walking here you can come across amber which is especially abundant in the autumn storm season.

We also have a number of attractions for the adrenaline hungry: a carting track, horse riding, free climbing walls and extreme bike downhill rides.

GDAŃSK

Gdańsk is beautiful in all seasons. If it is too cold for sunbathing you can take a walk far from a multilingual crowd and ruminate on 'what the stones witnessed' as it is only the stones that managed to survive the 'winds of wars' rumbling through the city for over 1000 years of its history. This city has always been either an active participant or an initiator of major European events. World War II, the beginnings of 'Solidarity' and the downfall of communism, they all reflect the rule of 'no impertinence, no timidity' inscribed on the city's coat of arms. Even though not all the citizens of Gdańsk are familiar with the motto, they have always been able to take action in hard times. It is a truly amazing city.

You do not have to plan your stay in Gdańsk only in the summer since every season has something to offer. The streets of the Old Town are equally enchanting in rain, in snow, covered with colourful leaves or in sunlight. With its modern hotel and conference facilities, as well as good airplane connections to Polish and European cities, Gdańsk is an ideal business conference venue. Moreover, the science potential of our region will prove to be an invaluable source of expertise help in organising any conference. If you wish to enrich your conference with social events, Gdańsk has a lot to offer in either a modern or historical mood. Numerous world famous places are easily accessible within a short space of time such as Westerplatte or the Solidarity Centre. If you are lucky you might even come across a Nobel Prize Winner – Lech Wałęsa. A walk along old Gdańsk's streets lined with little amber shops makes a deep impression on everyone. A visit to the seaside is also a must – you will be enchanted by the energy and the sound of waves.

sea of possibilities

For centuries Gdańsk has been a place where many cultures and nationalities coexisted, a place visited by merchants, scientists, princes and kings. All these factors have contributed to the tradition of the open-minded City of Freedom and Solidarity.

We wish to fully utilise the unique character of the city and the potential of its citizens. Therefore, we have made the development of business tourism our priority. Conference organisers considering Gdańsk as their conference venue can be assured of a conducive atmosphere and professional support provided by the Gdańsk Convention Bureau.

Reliable information is the key to success. Therefore I recommend this catalogue and invite you to organise business meetings in the city on the Motława River.

SOPOT

The longest wooden pier in Europe and the Forest Opera have long ceased to be Sopot's greatest landmarks. It is no longer the annual song contest but rather students who create the atmosphere of the city all year round. The famous Monte Cassino Street is a favourite venue for Tri-City students who give way to tourists in the summer. What attracts them to Sopot is not so much the weather as the area round the Sofitel Grand Hotel with its modern and yet traditional architecture of the old spa resort where Dom Zdrojowy Spa Hotel and the Sheraton Sopot Hotel, Conference Center & Spa have blended in perfectly with the surroundings. A big conference centre in the hotel will satisfy the most sophisticated tastes – the luxury of the interior and the view of the sea will create a perfect backdrop for formulating business plans. Each conference here will guarantee success in business matters while good organisation will also allow the participants to take some time to relax. Sopot is a centre of entertainment where you can enjoy yourself in all weathers so you must make some time for a moment of pleasure. On a hot summer day do not forget that you are a stone's throw away from a sandy beach and the swoosh of the sea which sometimes brings gifts to the tourists walking along the shore – if you are lucky you might find some amber. Can you help falling in love with such a sea?

For many years now, Sopot has consistently been developing its tourist infrastructure, thus becoming an all-year-round resort. It is a city of great potential which is attractive to the most demanding visitor. All this is possible thanks to a diverse accommodation base, including 5- and 4-star hotels, small top quality guesthouses and SPA centres, as well as a rich catering, cultural and recreational offer. The Conference Centre located in the new Dom Zdrojowy Spa Hotel (the Spa House) has already seen distinguished guests such as presidents, prime ministers and ministers, while the Multifunction Sports and Entertainment Hall, currently being built between Sopot and Gdańsk, will be an ideal congress venue for several thousands of participants. The potential of a conurbation, blended with the charm of a cosy resort, make Sopot an ideal venue for business meetings.

GDYNIA

Gdynia owes its uniqueness to its citizens. From the very beginning they knew that their city would always be great Gdańsk's younger sister (by c. 930 years). They also knew that they would have to do their best to stand on their own feet and so they did. While humbly accepting the administrative superiority of Gdańsk, they have always worked hard to create the now established image of Gdynia as a modern city with worldwide contacts. This sense of openness was fostered by generations of Gdynia Maritime University graduates sailing the seas and bringing back stories which stirred the imagination of younger generations trapped on the land. It was this imagination, the dreams of being like the OTHERS overseas, that helped build the city which is a symbol of business success. In such a city every business meeting will prove successful since dreams frequently inspire big projects. Both imagination and a love of the sea gave birth to the idea of inviting the most beautiful tall ships to Gdynia. Seeing them under sail makes you understand what has inspired sailors for hundreds of years. It is as obvious as the fact that Gdynia holds a well deserved title of 'Poland's sailing capital'. Will it also earn a reputation of a 'congress city'? It's all in your hands.

Gdynia is a beautiful young city of style and potential – a synonym of modernity, broad horizons and perseverance in achieving goals. It has everything that business needs. No wonder, therefore, that Gdynia is the venue willingly chosen by organisers of various economic forums, science conferences, symposiums, congresses, meetings, fairs or political conventions.

The city's latest addition to the conference offer is the GDYNIA Entertainment and Sports Hall – an ideally located, fully equipped and architecturally attractive facility.

REGION

We would not claim that Pomerania is a gem on the map of Poland, even if we secretly think so. It would also be impudent to claim that our region is the most beautiful place in the world as everyone cherishes their own vision of a special place. In order to get anywhere, we need to suffer the hardships of a journey and in order to overcome them we need motivation. Setting out on his journey, Herodot did not know what 'tourist attractions' were awaiting him. He preferred to concentrate on people, breaking his journey at every opportunity of a chat. Everyone he met taught him something new. INFORMATION is still the most important thing. Even though nowadays the Internet is a source of information and offers social utilities connecting people instantly, the need to meet OTHERS is still the strongest motivation for travel. We are also curious to meet you and see what you are like. Come to meet us and find out how we look after the place which has been our heritage for generations. In Europe, in Poland, by the Baltic Sea with Hel Peninsula interlocking with it – this is US – POMERANIA.

The location by the sea has always been a key element in the region's development. Marine transportation has contributed to the industrial development in different parts of the region creating workplaces and allowing people to accumulate wealth. The well-being of our citizens has been a long-standing tradition. Hanza merchants, renowned for their wealth, were able to appreciate the unique climate of Gdańsk and organised, what we might now call, business meetings in Arthur's Hall. Respecting our tradition, we take care of the attractive conference facilities where such meetings could take place. In the Pomeranian region, beside city conference centres, numerous hotel and conference facilities have been set up close to natural landmarks. With the fast-increasing hotel and conference base of our region, Gdańsk Convention Bureau is the institution which offers the most comprehensive help in the area of conference planning and organisation. Because of the rule of life-long education and the need to meet face-to-face with the people we met only via the Internet, the demand for business meeting facilities exceeds the supply of conference venues.

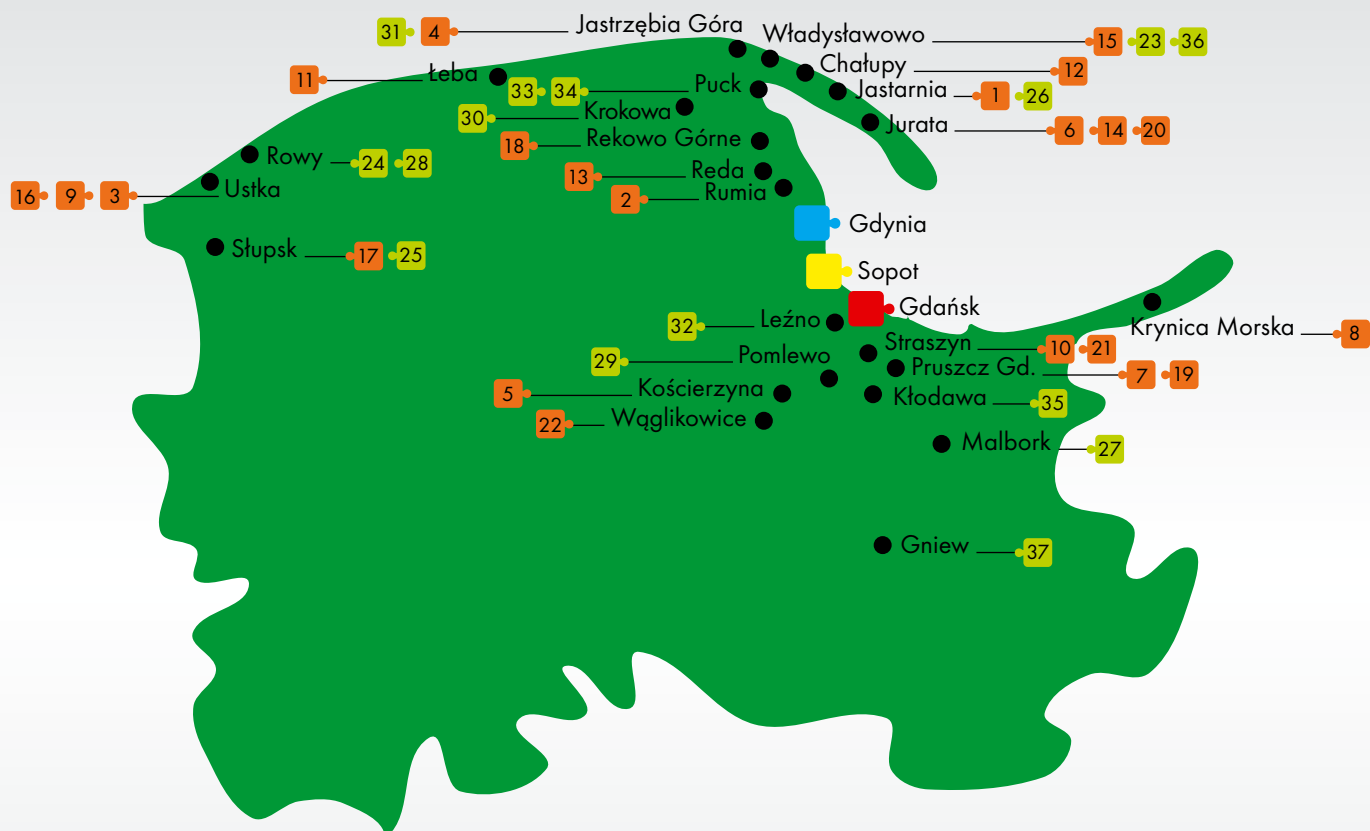

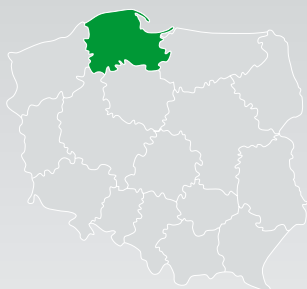

Pomeranian Voivodeship's tourism attractiveness lies in its diverse and exquisite offer. Business tourism plays a crucial role in Pomerania's development. An increasingly competitive hotel and conference base, restaurants inspired by the regional cuisine, an original offer of cultural events and relaxing atmosphere of SPA & Wellness centres, all create an ideal setting for organising business meetings, workshops or congresses in the climate of a coastal region. Pomerania – a good direction!

The aim of the portal is to present useful information in an interesting way which makes a tourist aware of the abundance of events in the city.
